

Saturday & Sunday Nov 3-4

These two workshops times are purposely over lapping. This is a really important class for dancers and drummers who want to really exude confidence and get past the over-thinking, thought process.

Drum Solo (duet) Workshops for Dancers

For Dancers

2:00 - 4:00pm with Erik Brown and Delilah

We ran this class in September and it was very progressive for the dancers who attended so we are bringing it back!

We will learn and practice how to dance to a solo drummer. You really need to listen to drum solos and jump in and get your hips wet. Bring Zils if you have them. Practice with a live and friendly drummer!

The length of this class will depend on how many sign up. It starts at 2:00 and will go till 3:30 if 6-7 dancers sign up. If 8-10 dancers sign up it will go until 4:00. You learn by dancing and watching each other. It's truly sharpens your skills. 10 dancers max. You can stay and listen to the drum workshop that follows.

$45 per class; or $75 for both classes if you sign up a week in advance!

"Drumming for Belly Dancers," A Workshop for Drummers

For Drummers

3:00 - 4:45pm with Erik Brown

There's drumming, and then there's playing for dancers.

When a drummer plays alone it's truly a solo but when the dancer and drummer work together it's a duet. The art of playing for a dancer takes skill, sensitivity and showmanship. That's what this class is focusing on.

You need to feel confident handling your Arabic tabla (no djembes or Indian drums). You will learn the traditional solo parts, drum licks, how to move from one to the next appropriately. You will then learn to communicate with a dancer (Delilah or others).

$45 per class; or $75 for both classes if you sign up a week in advance!

To register, please download a registration form and mail in with check:

NOTE: The next logical series we have in mind is a class with drummers and dancers. It will depend on the attendance of these two.
